WIG Craft and Ekranoplan Sep 21 2022 In the last half-century, high-speed water transportation has developed rapidly.
Novel high-performance marine vehicles, such as the air cushion vehicle (ACV), surface effect ship (SES), high-speed monohull craft (MHC), catamaran (CAT), hydrofoil craft (HYC), wave-piercing craft (WPC) and small water area twin hull craft (SWATH) have all developed as concepts, achieving varying degrees of commercial and military success. Prototype ACV and

SES have achieved speeds of 100 knots in at calm con- tions; however, the normal cruising speed for commercial operations has remained around 35-50 knots. This is partly due to increased drag in an average coastal s- way where such craft operate services and partly due to limitations of the propulsion systems for such craft. Water jets and water propellers face limitations due to c- itation at high speed, for example. SWATH are designed for reduced motions in a seaway, but the hull form is not a low drag form suitable for high-speed operation. So that seems to lead to a problem - maintain water contact and either water propulsion systems run out of power or craft motions and speed loss are a problem in higher seastates. The only way to higher speed would appear to be to disconnect completely from the water surface. You, the reader, might respond with a question about racing hydroplanes, which manage speeds of above 200 kph. Yes, true, but the power-to-weight ratio is extremely high on such racing machines and not economic if translated into a useful commercial vessel.

WIG May 25 2020 Voor een beeldend kunstenaar is het handig om vaak schetsen te maken, als studie voorafgaand aan het uiteindelijke resultaat. Of om te besluiten de schets de schets te laten en toch een ander werk te beginnen. Die letterlijke schetsen zijn zichtbaar. Maar gebaseerd op ervaring en herinneringen ontstaan er eveneens figuurlijke schetsen, zij het op schrift en in woorden. Deze bundel is een weergave van schetsen - in beide opzichten - die gemaakt zijn tijdens het inburgeren in Frankrijk. Een soort columns, die aanvankelijk in 2014 zijn verschenen in een web-log en nu hun weg hebben gevonden op papier.

Wigs on the Green May 17 2022 Wigs on the Green by Nancy Mitford is a hilarious satire of the upper classes. Eugenia Malmain is one of the richest girls in England and an ardent supporter of Captain Jack and the Union Jackshirts; Noel and Jasper are both in search of an heiress (so much easier than trying to work for the money); Poppy and Marjorie are nursing lovelorn hearts; and the beautiful bourgeois Mrs Lace is on the prowl for someone near Eugenia's fabulous country home at Chalford, and much farce ensues. One of Nancy Mitford's earliest novels, Wigs on the Green has been out of print for nearly seventy-five years. Nancy's sisters Unity and Diana were furious with her for making fun of Diana's husband, Oswald Moseley, and his politics, and the book caused a rift between them all that endured for years. Nancy Mitford skewers her family and their beliefs with her customary jewelled barbs, but there is froth, comedy and heart here too. 'Deliciously funny' Evelyn Waugh

Yorkshire Oddities: Incidents and Strange Events Apr 04 2021 In the middle of last century there lived in Wakefield a certain Peter Priestly, who for many years was sexton of the parish church of All Saints. The then vicar was Michael Bacon, D.D., a tall, portly man, of a commanding presence, who wore a large bushy wig, as was the wont of many old divines of that date. He was a man of rather a warm temperament, and was apt at times, when matters did not flow quite according to his will, to grow a little irritable, and whilst in that condition his habit was frequently to thrust his right hand in a testy, impetuous way under his wig. This habit destroyed the symmetry of that capital ornament, and made it protrude considerably on the right side; and this protrusion grew greater the longer the wig was worn. The vicar's wigs were inherited and worn by the sexton, whose venerable and awe-inspiring appearance was much enhanced thereby. Mrs. Priestly in vain endeavoured to reduce the protuberance of hair on the right side, so as not to betray the origin of the wig. The horse-hair resumed its elasticity in spite of her efforts, and the congregation in the parish church were amused to see the stately Doctor in his reading-desk with a deformed wig, and below him the scarcely less stately clerk in a wig the counterpart of that of the Doctor. But what amused the wags not a little was to observe the fact that when the Doctor's wig was perfectly symmetrical, instantly the sexton's assumed the most exaggerated inequality in the sides. The secret, of course, was that the Doctor had donned a new wig, and had given his old one to the clerk. But after a while the irascible vicar had succeeded in brushing out the tufts of his false head of hair on the right, and simultaneously the continued efforts of Mrs. Priestly had reduced the right-hand protuberance in the wig of her husband. Consequently, as one bush grew, the other shrank into itself. But there were points—like the equinoxes—when both wigs were alike. Now it fell out that Doctor Bacon had determined to present himself with a new wig one Easter, and he had accordingly given Peter Priestly his old wig, which had arrived at its maximum of extension on the right-hand side. Peter had heard it said that on S. Mark's Eve the spirits of all those who are to die during the year may be seen in the church. Half believing this popular superstition and half in doubt about the truth of it, and thinking, moreover, that if it might be so, he should like to know whether trade would be brisk for him during the rest of the year, he decided that anyhow he would go to the church and see what would happen; and not wishing to spend his time idly, he determined to occupy himself with lettering some grave-stones which he had not completed. The place in which he carried on this work was the base of the church tower, which was shut off from the nave by a large boarded partition, against which stood the west gallery of the church. The opening from the tower into the nave consisted of large folding-doors.

Under the Wig Feb 02 2021 How can you speak up for someone accused of a savage murder? Or sway a jury? Or get a judge to drop a case? William Clegg QC is a leading criminal lawyer in London. In this vivid memoir, he revisits his most notorious and intriguing trials, from the acquittal of Colin Stagg to the murder of Jill Dando, to the man given life because of an earprint and the first Nazi war crimes prosecution in the UK. All the while he lays bare the secrets of his profession, from the rivalry among barristers to the nervous moments before a verdict comes back — and how our right to a fair trial is now at risk. Under the Wig is for anyone who wants to know the reality of a murder trial. Switch off the TV dramas and plunge into the criminal law in action. Well-known cases featured: The Murder of Rachel Nickell on Wimbledon Common The Chillenden Murders (Dr Lin and Megan Russell) The Trial of Private Lee Clegg The Murder of Jill Dando The first Nazi war crimes prosecution in the UK The Murder of Joanna Yeates The Rebekah Brooks Phone Hacking Trial William Clegg QC, is one of the most celebrated advocates at the English bar. A barrister for 47 years, he has been the go-to lawyer for complex murder and fraud cases for decades. He is head of chambers at 2 Bedford Row, one of the four leading criminal sets in London. REVIEWS 'This is a gripping memoir from one of our country's greatest jury advocates, offering a fascinating, no-holds-barred tour behind the scenes of some of the most famous criminal cases of modern times.' — The Secret Barrister 'Countless veteran lawyers have produced page-turners based in the fictional world of law, but in Under the Wig William Clegg,

QC, has distilled his extraordinary life in the criminal courtroom into a yarn equally as gripping.' — The Times 'One of England's best barristers provides a fascinating sometimes hilarious combination of a personal odyssey and insider accounts of the most important and famous court cases of recent times. 'From the infamous case of Colin Stagg and the Wimbledon Murders to war crimes in Belarus and Bosnia and the Murdoch phone hacking trials we share and applaud the author's deep commitment to justice and his infectious enthusiasm for one of the world's greatest professions. An absolute must read for anyone who aspires to join it (and anyone who already has.)' — Bob Marshall-Andrews QC 'Bill Clegg's memoir draws on some of the most high-profile criminal prosecutions of recent years to illuminate the career of a defence lawyer at the peak of his success. 'Deftly weaving personal reminiscences into the view from counsel's bench, he solves one high-profile murder case long before the police and ensures that justice is finally done in another after the tactics adopted by a better-known QC have led to a miscarriage of justice.' 'Unlike many works of this genre, Clegg's case-book eschews endless exchanges with long-forgotten judges, lawyers and villains. Like the successful jury advocate that he is, Clegg reduces his story to its essence. He speaks plainly, sparing us the the bombast and the braggadocio. And those who still aspire to join the criminal bar will learn more from Clegg than Clegg ever did from Perry Mason.' — Joshua Rozenberg QC

The Wig My Father Wore Jul 19 2022 'It was a tough, wiry wig with plenty of personality. It rode around on his head like an animal. It was a vigorous brown. I was very fond of it as a child. I thought that it liked me back.' Anne Enright's extraordinary first novel is narrated by Grace, a TV producer, whose life is transfigured when she answers the door to a fully-fledged angel. Stephen was a bridge-builder in Canada before he killed himself, Needless, to say, she falls in love, moving steadily from the spiritual to the anatomical. Meanwhile as her TV day job on the 'Love Quiz' begins to spiral out of control, on the other side of her life is her father, benign, bewigged and stricken by a stroke - apparently mad but probably the sanest person in her life. As the three worlds meet and merge in a forest of contradictions, we watch Grace take the pacific path from cynicism to innocence, as all around her the novel thunders to a conclusion.

The Flying Wig, a Horrifying Tale Nov 30 2020

The Adventures of WYSIWYG (Wissy-Wig) Oct 30 2020 On Planet Perfuma, Where Wysiwyg lives, garbage is the fuel that supplies power for automobiles, spaceships, . computers, lights, water...everything; even turning the lights on when it gets dark. Many, many years ago, Perfuma's forefathers discovered how to make garbage into fuel. They didn't think they would ever run out of garbage, but they did. Perfuma is the prettiest, the cleanest and best smelling planet in the whole Galaxy because it never smells of garbage, only beautiful flowers that grow everywhere the garbage use to be; while pretty is nice, it's not always the most important. Fuel is necessary for survival-not flowers and pretty smells. The citizens of Perfuma are desperate, they must find the bravest one on Planet Perfuma to travel through the Galaxy to find Planet Earth and ask the Earthlings to please give all their old garbage to Planet Perfuma so it will be able to survive. Everyone on the Planet is gathered in the great hall to decide who will be chosen and over the crowd and the name the Master hears over and over is WYSIWYG: "Wysiwyg is Brave," "Wysiwyg is Strong," "Wysiwyg can do it," "Wysiwyg is Nice and it's nice to be nice.." Then a Booming Voice silences the crowd as the Master speaks. "Wysiwyg, You have been chosen to travel through the Galaxy to Planet Earth. Go bravely, learn, listen well. Find us the fuel to survive. OUR FUTURE IS IN YOUR HANDS." Wysiwyg said humbly: "Who me? I must be very brave? I must learn all I can about Planet Earth and the Earthlings so we can become friends and they give me their garbage to take home to my planet so we will have fuel?" Wysiwyg means: WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU GET. The name of the flying saucer that Wysiwyg is going to fly to Planet Earth is GIGO, which stands for: GARBAGE IN, GARBAGE OUT. Wysiwyg waves goodbye as off he goes, bravely, into the unknown. Except for the twinkling of the stars and the softy spinning sounds of the other planets as he whizzed by them, everything is very, very quiet. The whole world felt like it was standing still, dark purple...so dark it was almost black...and it was very scary. Then, just when Wysiwyg was about to give up, the sky lit up with so many bright, dazzling colors it almost blinded him and he began sliding down, down and down - he not only found the rainbow, he was sliding down on the color yellow so fast he could hardly catch his breath. He stepped on the brakes with all his might and GICO screeched to a stop just before Wysiwyg was about to fall head first into the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. WOW, said Wysiwyg to himself, that was close! And there, right in front of him was a very tall lady waving at him with a light in her hand to guide him. As he got closer, he realized he was looking at one of the pictures about the Planet Earth he studied before he left home. He was right above the Statue of Liberty in New York City. He remembered the story of how this statue symbolises Freedom.

Or sway a jury? Or get a judge to drop a case? In this memoir, murder case lawyer William Clegg revisits his most intriguing trials, from the acquittal of Colin Stagg to the shooting of Jill Dando, to the man given life because of an earprint. All the while he lays bare the secrets of his profession, from the rivalry among barristers to the nervous moments before a verdict comes back, and how our right to a fair trial is now at risk. Under the Wig is for anyone who wants to know the reality of a murder trial. It has been praised as "gripping" by The Times, "riveting" by the Sunday Express and "fascinating" by the Secret Barrister, who described the author as "one of our country's greatest jury advocates."

Several prominent barristers, including Matthew Scott and Bob Marshall-Andrews QC, have said Under the Wig is a "must read" for anyone with an interest in the criminal law. Switch off the TV dramas and see real criminal law in action. Well-known cases featured: The Murder of Rachel Nickell on Wimbledon Common The Chillenden Murders (Dr Lin and Megan Russell) The Trial of Private Lee Clegg The Murder of Jill Dando The first Nazi war crimes prosecution in the UK The Murder of Joanna Yeates The Rebekah Brooks Phone Hacking Trial
